DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 4, 7, 12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Seckler (U.S. 2003/0205548 A1). Seckler teaches a container lid, shown in figure 2A having a base at lead line 10, with a spill proof connections at 63 and an inner spout at lead lines 66 and 27. The lid also has a top 50 connected to the base via a spillproof connection at 57. The top has an outer spout 56 for drinking. The top 50 is removable and the reservoir is located between the bottom wall of the base and the opening of spout 56.
3. Claims 25-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chu (U.S. 6,305,571). Chu teaches a method wherein the drinkable portion of the fluid is directed to the reservoir between elements 47 and 55, the fluid is allowed to cool and the then dispensed through opening 32.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1, 4, 6, 9 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chu (U.S. 6,305,571) in view of Swett et al. (U.S. 3,820,692). Chu teaches a container lid 20, shown in figure 3, having a base at lead line 47 with an inner spout at lead lines 43 and 46. The lid also has a top 55 connected to the base via a spillproof connection above lead lines 40 in figure 3. The top has an outer spout at 32 for drinking. The top 55 is removable and the reservoir is located between the bottom wall of the base and the top wall of the top 55. The trough is shown at lead line 27 in figure 4. Chu teaches that the base is connected to the top and that the top is connected to the container. Chu does not teach a spill proof connection between the base and the container. Swett et al. teach that it is known to provide a two part closure on a container wherein the base is connected to the container and the top is connected to the base. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the lid of Chu with the base being directly connected to the container, as taught by Swett et al., in order to increase the capacity of the reservoir.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 14, 15, 17, 18, 20, 21, 23, 24 and 31 are allowed.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The prior art is cited for the reservoir between the two lid elements.

8. THIS ACTION IS NON-FINAL.
